FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 19, 1889.

LOCAL AND GENERAL NEWS BRIEFS.

Good Friday today.
Miss Mattie Strass is quite ill.
Go to Buston & Son's for fresh fish.

Mr. C. A. Pobst is over from Abingdon.

The day after tomorrow will be Easter Sunday.

See trespass notice of Messrs. Brown and Peery.

Mrs. Geo. W. Gillespie is the owner of a four legged chicken.

Prayer meeting at the Y. M. C. A. rooms each Sunday at 3:30 p. m.

Mr. Joseph Moss and family were in the city Tuesday and Wednesday.

The lawyers are still busy with the evidence in the Bowen-Buchanan contest.

Will (Doc) O'Keeffe takes to town life and mercantile business, like a duck to water.

Mrs. T. G. Witten and Mrs. Jos. Strass are still improving, their friends are glad to know.

He looked in the eye of the animated cane. He dodged the muzzle of the loaded "gun." Who wouldn't?

Mr. Tate Greever has recovered his health sufficiently to return this week to his crops on the Elkhorn extension.

On the 4th Thursday in May an election will be held for supervisors, magistrates, constables and overseer of the poor.

The trial of Robinson, implicated with Baldwin and Wallace in the killing of Moran, resulted, Monday, in his acquittal.

A Seminary shopping expedition causes the average clerk to "do about" the one occasion during the day upon which he is not lath.

Mrs. D. H. Peery, in company with her son in law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Richards, of Ogden City, are visiting friends in town and county.

Look out for your unhitched teams and tie up your horses to carefully selected posts. The town council is short and McClintock is on the lay for boodle.

Messrs. H. W. Pobst and A. B. Buchanan were appointed yesterday, to the two vacancies in the Board of Aldermen, caused by the declination to serve of Messrs. May and Gillespie.

Rev. Wm. M. Gillespie, a Tazewell boy, and now a student at Emory and Henry College, is reported in the papers as having delivered two very excellent sermons in Wytheville lately.

We are obliged to our friend Mr. A. D. Estill, of Lexington, whose judgment is reliable, for the compliment he pays the CLINCH VALLEY NEWS in saying that it is the best county paper in the State.

Joe Wallace, one of the men who was shot by Bill Moran, while resisting arrest, died at the Central Hotel on Saturday night and was buried in the Citizens Cemetery on Monday. An unsuccessful attempt had been made to remove the ball.

RELIGIOUS NOTICE.—Strass Memorial Church, Tazewell C. H., Rev. Chas. Gauss, Rector. Divine services Sunday at 11 a. m. and 7:30 p. m. In the Chapel 3 p. m. Sunday School and Bible class at 9:30 a. m. Strangers cordially invited. All welcome.

Why SHE LOVED HIM.—Oh say, Katie, for what are you smiling so after? Now will you mind me, Mollie? My sweetheart, Dinna, had such a spell of cold and was ever after saying that I despised of her wedding him, but now she is as good as yes please after taking Faulkner & Craigill's Compound Syrup of Horehound and Tar. Dinna is not purty, but sensible. That's why she loves him.

A rare opportunity is presented to our enterprising townsmen to represent a nursery firm that warrants stock to be delivered in prime condition so that a large, honorable and permanent trade can be built up. Very liberal terms to the right man. Address J. E. Whitney, Rochester, N. Y.

Mr. Louis Pizzini, of Richmond, while on a week's visit in town made himself useful as well as agreeable, by taking a prominent part in a very excellent concert at the Seminary, given under the management of Miss Reedy, ably assisted by Mrs. Benninger, Mr. Whitman and the young ladies of the school.

In another column will be found an interesting report from our regular correspondent at Emory of the recent fire at that place. President Jones, in a letter to the NEWS, expresses the hope that, through the generosity of friends, this calamity to the college may be made a blessing, such as was brought to Howard University, a few years ago, under similar circumstances.

Messrs. I. Frank & Co. have an unusually complete stock of clothing on hand for the spring custom, and refer this week to the same in their advertising space. Their idea seems to be to maintain the leading position in their line by means of a combination of proper fit and feature with moderation in price. A suit of clothes is a necessity, and if at the same time it can be made a luxury by reason of superior fit and appearance, the purchaser is doubly profited.

Mr. M. Gibbon, of the Southwest Virginia Improvement Company, was in town on Wednesday.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became a Girl, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Capt. Emil Low, in charge of the Clinch Valley railroad, moved yesterday with his family to Mouth of Indian. The captain and his band some wife made friends of our entire community and their departure was universally regretted. We introduce them to the people of Indian as a desirable acquisition to their society. The move was made in order to have the office of the company on that part of the line not yet completed.

FIRE AT E. AND H. COLLEGE.

The friends and patrons of Emory and Henry will be pained to learn that the fine building known as the Byars House was destroyed by fire on Friday afternoon, 12th inst. The weather being unusually dry and windy a spark caught in the top of the tower at a point quite inaccessible. The students, almost without exception, with heroic efforts, struggled with the raging demon, even at the peril of their lives, and for an hour held the fire in check, notwithstanding the fierce wind, hoping to confine the fire to the top of the tower until all the material there might be consumed. But the shower of embers and fragments falling on their heads at length forced them so far down that the fire reached the attic of the main building, when all had to surrender. All then directed their efforts towards saving the contents of the building. The furniture, libraries and decorations of the Literary Societies were first saved. These were on the third story. Then the college library and the cabinet of minerals were removed from the second story and then the furniture and stores from the first floor and basement. The fire descending rather slowly gave time for the removal of a large quantity of window sash and doors.

It was the day appointed for the annual public debate of one of the literary societies. Unusual preparations had been made for this occasion and visitors were arriving on the trains. As they gathered a wild scene met their eyes and they worked promptly and manfully to aid in trying to save the building from destruction and removing the contents. Even the ladies did noble service in helping to remove the books and other articles. Too much praise can not be given the noble men and women who had come, many from long distances, for their ready assistance. By night fall the work of destruction was complete. Some five hundred ladies and gentlemen, who had come to attend the debate and a festival that was to follow, stood and spectators of the scene. The very hall in which the supper was about to be spread was now all aglare with other flames than those of Astral lamps.

The sequel for the evening, however, showed how elastic are the spirits of our young men and maidens. The boys, leaving their books and furniture piled around the now falling walls, gave a farewell look toward the places where were so lately their beautiful and much loved halls, escorted the young ladies to the college chapel, and opened the debate as cheerfully, almost, as if no calamity had befallen them. Nor did they fail in the feast; for among other savings they were mindful of the cakes and ice cream and Oysters, &c., which were transported to the Fulton House and attended to in due time.

The Byars House was erected about two years before the late war at a cost of nearly fifteen thousand dollars; there is an insurance upon it of seven thousand five hundred. With this to begin work and the assistance that the friends of the institution will doubtless promptly give, the Byars House will speedily rise like the ancient Phoenix from its ashes. J. A. DAVIS.

CONSUMPTION SURELY CURED

To THE EDITOR.—Please inform your readers that I have a positive remedy for the above named disease. By its use thousands of hopeless cases have been permanently cured. vs.

N. Hefenall and H. Rosenbaum who are sued with J. K. Rudisill and Rebecca, his wife; J. O. Freeman, Trustee, and others.

The object of this suit is to enforce the lien of a judgment in favor of the Complainants against J. K. Rudisill for $57.20 with interest thereon from the 25th day of June, 1888, and 80 cents costs at law, and to subject to sale to satisfy same, certain lands and property conveyed on the 2nd day of August, 1888, by J. K. Rudisill to John C. Freeman, Trustee, to secure the parties mentioned in said deed and to set aside said deed as fraudulent. And it appearing from sufficient evidence on file in this office that the Complainants have used due diligence to ascertain in what county or counties N. Hefenall and H. Rosenbaum reside without effect and that process has been twice returned not executed by the Sheriff of the city of Roanoke. It is ordered that they appear here within 15 days after due publication of this order and do whatever is necessary to protect their interest in this suit; and that copies hereof be posted and published as prescribed by law.
